

ALTMAN WHAMMIES PARKING LAW

Town Counsel Alan Altman has ruled that the recent Zoning Amendments governing off-street parking do not apply to the Route 93 Northern Industrial Zone, being developed by the DeCenso Brothers between Woburn Street and West Street. This is the location of Wilmington's newest industry, the Ling Electronics plant.

In stating his opinion Altman cited Chapter 40A, Section 7A of the General Laws, which exempts any subdivision from changes in the Zoning By-Law for a period of seven years from the date that the subdivision was approved by the Planning Board.

The DeCenso industrial subdivision was approved last August before the Special Town Meeting voted on the amendments sponsored by the Planning Board.

Altman's ruling was made in reply to a request for such an interpretation to the former Town Manager, Richard M. Henneberger by Attorney Joseph F. Courtney, who represents the DeCenso Brothers.

Courtney raised the issue to obtain guidance for the Building Inspector and the Town Engineer, who are the enforcing officers under the town's Zoning By-Laws, and to expedite negotiations for the construction of 'several industrial buildings'. He had pointed out to Henneberger that a 'clear interpretation' of this aspect of the Zoning By-Law would eliminate time consuming delays which might result from the subsequent controversy over the effect of the zoning amendments.

School Committee Budget Up $248,000

The 1967 School Committee budget represents an increase of $248,423.83 over that of 1966. The increase, according to the Supt. of Schools is due largely to the adoption of new salary schedules for all school department employees, the need for 23 new teachers to take care of pupil growth, and the improvement of the curriculum, and the need to meet general increases in all expense accounts, such as transportation, supplies, texts, utilities, etc.

$1,920,648.09 will have to be raised by taxation at the Annual Town Meeting, after reduction of the total budget by figures represented balances at the end of the year on three Federal accounts. In previous years this account was used in the annual Town Meeting to reduce the size of the appropriation, but this year the reduction appears before the Town Meeting, at the time when the budget is submitted to the town manager. This is in accord with a recent ruling of the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

The Superintendent has said that a complete budget, in bound form, will be submitted to the town manager and Finance Committee in the latter part of January.

Selectmen's Meeting

A letter from Atty Fred Corum to the Board of selectmen, Tuesday night took an exception to the amount of money appropriated at the Special Town Meeting in which the town voted to take land behind the Whitefield School, for a new school site.

Mr Corum represented some of the owners, who are seeking more money for their land.

Requests for transfers from the Reserve Fund were received. The Police Department, for gas bought from the Fire Department, and for unseen Cruiser repairs; The Fire Department for gas charged to the Texaco Company because accounts were due and re-imbursement had not yet come in for ambulance and fire trucks, and the Highway Department for Snow and Ice Removal, and sanding, in December. There had not been enough appropriation in the budget of last year to pay for all that sand.

The Vocational Training Account needed an additional $1832. 50 for tuition costs and transportation for out-of-town students. It was reported that there had been a larger participation by students than had been anticipated.

Mrs Bertha M Merrill of 364 Chestnut Street, and Eliot K. Perry of 36 Columbia Street were drawn for Jury Duty, in East Cambridge.

A letter from Robert Jordan of 18 Carter Lane was presented, and stated that, in view of the accident on Massachusetts Avenue last week resulting in the death of a child it was his belief that a pedway, at the end of Carter Lane to the new West Intermediate and Boutwell Schools should be closed to automobile traffic.

Paul Niles insisted that the Selectmen do something to stop the traffic. He was told by TM Melzar that the Selectmen could do anything they wanted to.

On motion of Niles the Selectmen voted to put up a chain barrier at the school property line, on Carter Lane.

The Selectmen were told that the warrant for the Special Town Meeting had been posted, but that the copies would not be available immediately to the public, as they had to be returned to the printer for corrections.

Mr Miceli wanted to know why the warrants had to be handset, saying that the cost of offset printing would be approximately half the price. After some discussion the board decided that they didn't have to have handset printing and Lloyd Bender made the comment that the Finance Committee had asked for the printing of the warrant and the Finance Committee's report to be one job.

The articles for the warrant for the Annual Town Meeting will close at 4:30 Monday January 16th, the date of the Special Town Meeting.

Melzar commented on the new billing machine, and said that it would combine an envelope operation also, at a considerable saving of time and labor.

He also told the Selectmen that nothing had been done yet about the fence on the approach to the Shaw-sheen Avenue bridge, because too much snow had been piled up there.

The meeting adjourned at 8:30 pm so that the selectmen could attend the Finance Committee hearing in the High School.

Letter

Dear Larz:

I am writing in regard to the surprising number of patrons served by the R.F.D. Carriers in Wilmington, as shown by your story of last week. This is an average of 640 patrons per carrier, which means that some have more, perhaps some less. This was an excellent time of the year to make this point, for this is the one time of the year when mis-understanding and ill-feeling are at their height among our patrons. In our defense may I explain a thing or two to the people who apparently know so little about, and expect so much from their rural service!

First, your mail does not come to us all ready to be delivered - we spend from two to four hours each morning lining up every pelce of mail so that when we arrive at Box A, Mr. A's mail is there and we can know if he has a parcel, if it's too much to fit in the box or not, and if he has any 'signature' mail, it's surprising how many people don't realize this, or that when we return to the Post Office after finishing out route we spend from one to three hours working more of the mail, which is to go out next day.

Second, we are the only service that provides just about total postal service. We are virtually a post office to your door. Exception: Though it is requested, by the Post Office Department that patrons affix their own stamps to outgoing mail all year long, during the month of December it is required. We pick up no 'lickers' in December.

Third: We carry on no personal vendetta against any of our patrons. With so very many patrons to serve we simply cannot give special service to any one. We do the job according to the instructions given us by the Post Office Department. We try to do it conscientiously, we try to give you the best service we can, we are concerned that your mail be delivered correctly and safely. We are human, we make mistakes, we do get tired and irritable on a long hard day, and perhaps sometimes we hurry a bit when the load is extra heavy. We spend from nine to twelve hours a day working and delivering your mail.

And fourth, now is the season of snow and more snow. Please believe that we would prefer to deliver your mail. When the approach to the box is not shoveled out so that we can reach it, bringing your mail back to the Post Office only makes more work for us. Our instructions are that the carrier must be able to service the box without having to dismount from his vehicle, and that means to drive up to it, and away from it.

Obviously this too is because there are so many patrons to serve. Were we to make exceptions we would be unable to finish the route in a day. There never is 'just one' exception. The alternative is for the patron to provide some other receptacle placed within the carrier's reach, so that he may place mail in it. We don't like shovelling but we must clear the way to our box, or we get no mail too. We are rural patrons, we well as rural carriers!

Sincerely,
A Wilmington RFD Carrier

The Celtics outscored the Lakers 71 to 30. Tony Beatrice and Ed Thomas hit for 19 points each. Danny Ballou tried hard to keep the Lakers in the game by scoring 21 points. Al Williams and Chuck Nickerson hit double figures of 11 and 15.

The Bullets came from behind at the half to stop the Pistons 41 to 38. Bill Simmons and Jim Tildesley with 20 and 14 points lead the Bullets to the target. Bill Steber with 14 points and Don White with 10 worked hard to win the game, but didn't quite make it.

The Royals leading all the way defeated the Knicks 56 to 45. Gary Hebsch hit for 20 points while Bob Stewart scored seven from the floor and two free throws for 16 points for the Royals. Dave Walls and Bob Cowie combined with 18 and 11 points each for the Knicks.

4H Horse and Pony Club

Good news for the horse lovers of Wilmington for the new year is that a new 4H Horse Club is being formed.

After a lapse of some years, the club is being formed at the Fielding Farm (the home for many years of the late Adolph Simpson), on Hopkins Street. The first meeting is planned to be held Saturday at 2:30 pm.

There are many horse owners in Wilmington. This club is being Federally sponsored to educate children in the care and responsibility they have towards their animals, as owners. It is hoped that there will be a large turnout for the first meeting, and that parents will encourage their children to join.

To be eligible, a child must be nine or older, must own a horse or pony, and must give 75% of the animal's care.

Please call Daine Fielding at 658-8220, or Pat Trall at 658-3507 for more information.

Boosters' Meeting

The Boosters Association of Wilmington High School will meet next Monday, at 8 pm, in the small cafeteria of the High School. There will be a Financial Report, and a discussion of new projects by the Association.

Hello !

We are your new neighbors, down on Industrial Way, in South Wilmington. You can see our new plant when you drive to Boston, on Route 93.

We are very proud of our new building, and are very happy to be a part of the growing industries of Wilmington.

Nosey Nancy

Send your announcements to Nancy, Box 208 Wilmington, or call 657-7141, or 658-4865 after five. If I'm not there, I'll call you.

Mel & Lil Woodside have written a letter from Florida, where they are visiting just about everybody along with their grandchildren, Beaver and Steven MacMullin.

The letter came from Clermont, where they had been visiting the Citrus Tower and viewing over $700,000,000 in Citrus Groves, where they seemed to enjoy everything except the Citrus Processing, (possibly just too much grapefruit).

And they have been in to see Harold Huntley, The Don Tobey family, and the John Cooke family.

Allick has done it. That restaurant of his, opposite his present office, is certainly a wonderful addition to Wilmington, and it's nothing like anything we have ever seen before. The word is that Allick and Jean flew out to the West Coast to preview one like it, out there.

But it really is original. You can drive up to a microphone, (wearing, if you wish, pajamas and nightgown, for instance), and without getting out of your car, be able to give your order, and then drive up to a window and get it, hot and delicious.

The restaurant is in what used to be the New Ford Showroom. Allick & Jean have had many congratulations on their new style restaurant, and they deserve it. Good Luck to Both of You!

Mrs. Trexler writes from England that she has signed up for her Master's Degree, and that Trex is busier than ever. She had two girls from Sudbury down for her Christmas Vacation, and she not only showed them London, but also how to tend a coal fire. Perhaps Nosey Nancy should take a trip over - she still can't handle the coal furnace at her house, and she isn't too young to learn. Yes, and the Trexler's had a New Years Dinner in a house that was only about 300 years young.

Mrs. Blanche D. Lord, over on Deming Way tells me that the old folks in the Golden Agers had a wonderful Christmas dinner, and that it was brought to them by the Community Fund. She also mentioned that there was a nice Thanks giving Dinner, from the Jaycees of Wilmington.

Blanche gave me a card, with 'Thoughts from my Rocking Chair' ... 'Am sitting here on New Year's Eve, warm, happy, and quiet. Am so thankful to be here. Most of my time is spent in my rocking chair, but I could be in a wheel chair or in bed. I wish everyone a Happy New Year and may God Bless Everyone ... Mrs. Lord.

These are the things that make my job rewarding. Thank you, Mrs. Lord. You don't know it but one of my most prized possessions is a rocker like yours - However, I have to find an excuse to occupy it, and now that my #1 grandchild is here, I can find excuses more frequently, because I am one grand mother that firmly believes in singing and rocking the young ones.

There is to be a meeting of the Whitefield Parents Group, next Monday, at 8 pm at the school. Sgt. Phillip Bradanick of the Tewksbury Police Department is to be their guest, and will speak on 'The New Approach of Safety Education for Children'. There will also be a short film on 'The Riddle of the Friendly Stranger'. District Supt. Ralph Ambrose will explain the new report cards, and there is to be ice cream to the kids in the class who have the most parents attending! - If that isn't an incentive I never heard of one.

Congratulations and a Happy Birthday to Mrs. Wavie Drew, our beloved Selectwoman. Her birthday co-incided with the Selectmen's meeting Tuesday, and the Board extended their personal congratulations. She announced that she is officially 76 years young. However Lloyd Bender, the chairman, gallantly insisted that women never pass their 29th birthday!

Mrs. Clara Chipman, the Librarian, wishes everyone to know the new Library Schedule.

The Library will now be closed on Monday mornings, and open on Saturday mornings. The schedule runs as follows: Monday, 2 to 9; Tuesday through Friday, 10 to 9; Saturday 10 to 5. This should give the girls who have to hustle around town in hubby's car on a Saturday mornings a chance to put in a library trip, along with the other errands - Good - Eh?

We have heard from Gary Balsar. He has just arrived in Viet Nam, and is stationed at a small air base that is just starting, near the town of Phu Cat, in the II Corps area. Gary is about 250 miles northeast from Saigon.

Gary, who is an airman Second Class, and a Cook, says that he is having a private war with rats from the neighborhood.

His address is: A2C Gary Balsar AF 11448575, 37 Combat Support Group, APO San Francisco Calif 96368

Gary should be home to help his dad, who started Camp Forty Acres years ago, up in North Wilmington for the boys and girls of Wilmington.

Someone went into Camp Forty Acres during the Christmas Vacation and cleaned out every bit of electric wire - every single bit!

The grapevine tells me that Frankie Swain is doing well with his new barbershop in the square. Nice going, Frankie.

Selectman Jim Miceli and his family are now ensconced in their new home on Webber Street. The house is painted black - but you are not talking about another Selectman when you say The Black House. You are talking about the new home of Jim and Jean, and may they have a lot of comfort in their new home.

The Diet Workshop is going to have an open house on Thursday January 12th at the High School. It is to be at 8 pm. Classes will start after the open house.

These classes are open to men and women, and to teenagers too. All weights are privately recorded. There is no contract to sign and a free lifetime membership is awarded to all successful graduates. Each graduate also receives an attractive 'before and after' picture.

The program is based on the findings of the New York Board of Health's Obesity Clinic.

No diet pills are allowed. The goal of the Diet Workshop is to re-educate your eating habits.

There is no charge for the open house. There will be a nominal charge thereafter. Further information may be had from Mrs. Frank H McLean, 658-2766, or Mrs. George Webster, 658-4425.

Wilmington has always had a couple of professors, at least, in its population, but every now and then another one appears - and generally they are found to be quite pleasant ordinary people - quite unlike the one pictured in cartoons.

One such professor, I have just learned, is a resident of Nichols Street. His name is Trevor Mella and he lives, I am told, at 128 Nichols Street. Dr. Mella is an assistant professor in the Department of Drama and Speech, at Tufts

EVERYTHING FOR THE HOME

Mrs McCabe and her pet Cecrophia

Ruth McCabe is a Woburn Street lady who loves to conduct kindergartens, and otherwise work with children. When she isn't conducting her own kindergarten, in summer time, she is working with the Head Start program.

Partly as the result of this, and partly as a result of her innate interest in natural history, Mrs McCabe has a hobby of collecting moth cocoons and watching the moths emerge into full grown insects. But she has never been successful - until Monday, the day after New Years. So far she has been successful only with the little white cabbage butterflies, which of course are not moths, and which emerge from a chrysalis, not a cocoon.

Her son Robert, 25, now a resident of Salem, New Hampshire, knows of his mother's interest. A year and a half ago he captured (if captured is the right word) a larva on a tree near his home which he recognized to be that of a Cecrophia Moth, and Mrs McCabe tried to get a moth from that larva, but without results. The air in her home was too dry, and the larva after it made itself into a cocoon, died.

Last summer Bob 'captured' a second larva, on an apple tree behind his home. For a larva, or 'worm' it is an enormous specimen, nearly four inches long, of green grass color, and with little 'shakos' for ornaments on its back. Bob called his mother, and she drove to New Hampshire to get the specimen, but somehow it was lost.

The family spent all afternoon searching the grass, but without luck. Finally, just as the sun was setting, Mrs McCabe saw the specimen (or another) on the branch of a cedar tree.

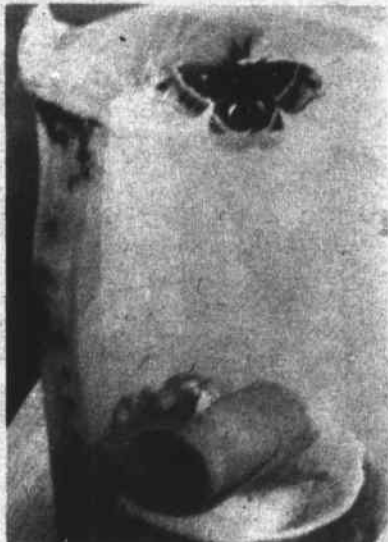

That larva went down to Wilmington High School, and the classes of Operation Head Start, where the children had the exciting job of feeding it grape leaves, and then watching it spin into a cocoon, when that stage of its life had arrived.

After the end of the Head Start classes Mrs McCabe took the cocoon home. It was three and a half inches long, about one and one quarter inches wide, and of hard brown material, almost like leather. It was kept out of doors, but where birds could not get at it. On November first it was brought in side.

Mrs McCabe was very careful to keep the atmosphere in the room where the cocoon was in a condition resembling spring weather, with plenty of water to keep the air moist. Under such circumstances the moth is supposed to emerge on the 60th day.

This time she was certain that the life within the cocoon was still going on. She could see from time to time that the cocoon had turned over, and what more proof was needed?

But nothing happened on the sixtieth day, nor on the sixty-first. But at 2:15 am on Monday, six-

THE PET CECROPHIA: At the top of his wire cage, stretching his wings. The cocoon from which he emerged can barely be seen at the side, where the wire has been doubled.

At the bottom of the cage is the cocoon of a Luna Moth, which was also supposed to emerge at the end of sixty days, and hasn't.

The Luna Cocoon is on top of the small log.

ty-one and one half days later her daughter heard a noise which she thought was her pet cat, playing with paper. She got up to investigate.

It was the Cecrophia Moth, after emerging from its cocoon. It was stretching his wings for the first time, and that was what made the noise. Naturally the whole family was aroused to watch.

It takes about 20 minutes after a moth emerges, to stretch its wings fully and to let them dry.

The wings in this specimen measure six inches across.

Color pictures found in some books do not do justice to the insect. The specimen which Mrs McCabe has is much more attractive than the pictures indicate.

There is, for instance, a red body - almost maroon. This is not to be seen in colored illustrations. The abdomen has red stripes of the same color, and is of surprising size, and the six legs are also of the same color. Colored pictures seem to show that these are black, or nearly so.

The moth, as of Monday afternoon, is a treasured pet of the family, but there are a few problems.

The first is: How can they feed it. In an ordinary life cycle the moth would now be flitting from spring flower to spring flower, sipping of the nectars to be found. But, the flowers bloom in the spring, and this is the second of January! Besides not being available, Mrs McCabe has no idea of just which flower the moth would sup!

She has poured a little honey in to the screen cage. Whether or not the moth has taken any is impossible to determine. Likewise she has poured in a little sugar and water, but also in this case it is impossible to tell whether or not Mr. Moth has supped.

The second problem is what to do about preserving the moth. Some moth collectors chloroform their specimens, and then preserve them with formaldehyde. Others use a cyanide gas to kill their specimens.

Mrs McCabe doesn't want to have to artificially shorten the life of her beautiful specimen, but she is afraid that when death comes naturally, as it will in a few days, the wings will be folded, and she will be unable to properly preserve the remains, and to exhibit it to posterity.

What should she do?

CDA Meets on Monday

Court St Thomas of Villanova, CDA will hold its monthly meeting on January 9th at the Parish Hall, starting at 8:30 pm. Members are asked to attend a Benediction at the Church at 7:45 pm.

Mr and Mrs William Frost of Lowell Street will demonstrate how woods from all over the world can be made into beautiful and useful pieces, from a bowl to a table.

Past Grand Regent Jean Szadis of Lloyd Road and her committee will serve refreshments.

JUDITH GARDNER IS ENGAGED

Mr and Mrs Ronald Kennedy of 131 Church Street have announced the engagement of their daughter Judith M Gardner to Mr Phillip D Malone, son of Mr and Mrs Donald Malone of Ironton, Ohio.

Miss Gardner is a graduate of Wilmington High School and is presently attending Union College in Barbourville, Kentucky.

Mr Malone is graduating this coming May from Union College and has been accepted at Boston University Theological School to study for his Ph.D., majoring in religious psychology.

No date has been set for the wedding.

By the way, how many brides do you know of who can cook a turkey the day after they are married? Joanne did, and it was delicious - with excellent dressing. I know because she brought me two drumsticks, dressing and cranberry sauce . . . Gleeps, I couldn't cook a turkey after I had been married ten years.
